WHAT YOU DID WELL

You extend your answers with reasons and real details: phrases like “historical buildings” and “they always give you tea and bread” paint a clear picture.

Your 3 priorities for Band 6.5

Fix these first — they cost you the most.

01

Present perfect for changes

A change that still matters now takes has/have + past participle.

~~it changed a lot~~ → it has changed a lot

Grammar Mistakes 3, 5

02

Plurals and agreement

Plural after one of the; plural subjects take were/are.

~~some old places was destroyed~~ → some old places were destroyed

Grammar Mistakes 1, 4, 6, 8

03

Natural word partners

Learn words with their partners: famous for, a place to live.

~~famous with~~ → famous for

01 · YOUR ANSWERS

Your answers, marked

This is what you said, from your recording. Short fixes are shown in the text, and every mistake is explained in the next section.

Strong phrase — keep it Mistake like Filler word ~~word~~ fix

Q1 0:14 · 29 words

Where are you from?

I'm from Samarkand, it's, uh, one of the oldest ~~city~~ cities in Uzbekistan. It is very famous ~~with~~ for its historical buildings like Registan, and many tourists ~~are coming~~ come there every year.

Q2 0:12 · 27 words

What do you like most about your hometown?

I like that people are very friendly and, you know, hospitable. When you visit someone, they always give you tea and bread, even if they don't know you.

Q3 0:18 · 35 words

Has your hometown changed much in recent years?

Yes, it has changed a lot. Now there are more new roads and, uh, modern buildings, so the city looks more... more beautiful than before. But some old places ~~was~~ were destroyed, which is quite sad for me.

Q4 0:16 · 35 words

Would you like to live there in the future?

Maybe yes. I think Samarkand is a good place ~~for living~~ to live, because it is calm and not ~~so~~ as expensive ~~like~~ as Tashkent. But for my career I need to stay in the capital, like, for some years.

02 · MISTAKES

Every mistake explained

Only mistakes are shown. Correct answers are not repeated.

1. Q1 ~~one of the oldest city~~ → one of the oldest cities — Grammar
   After “one of the”, the noun is always plural.

2. Q1 ~~famous with~~ → famous for — Lexical
   We say a place is famous for something.

3. Q1 ~~are coming there every year~~ → come there every year — Grammar
   “Every year” is a habit, so it takes the present simple.

4. Q2 ~~even they don’t know you~~ → even if they don’t know you — Grammar
   “Even” alone can’t join two clauses - use even if.

5. Q3 ~~it changed a lot~~ → it has changed a lot — Grammar
   A change that still matters now takes the present perfect.

6. Q3 ~~some old places was destroyed~~ → some old places were destroyed — Grammar
   “Places” is plural, so the verb is were.

7. Q4 ~~is good place for living~~ → is a good place to live — Lexical
   Say a good place to live - with “a”, and “to live”, not “for living”.

8. Q4 ~~not so expensive like Tashkent~~ → not as expensive as Tashkent — Grammar
   Comparisons of equality use as … as.

03 · YOUR VOICE

SPEAKING PACE

127 words / min

slow — natural 110–160 — fast

Inside the natural range. Speed is not your problem; fillers are.

LONG PAUSES

1 over 1 second

Longest: 1.8 s, in your Q3 answer. One of them happens in the middle of a sentence.

FILLERS

4 in 60 s

About one every 15 seconds. Band 6 speakers use them only occasionally.

Your filler words

Counted from your recording

“uh”		×2
“you know”		×1
“like”		×1

Intonation

Your pitch over your longest stretch of speech, measured

Your pitch stays almost flat, which can sound bored or unsure. Let your voice rise on the key word and fall at the end of each answer.

AIMED AT 7.0

Q1

Where are you from?

I'm from Samarkand, which is one of the oldest cities [1] in Central Asia. It's renowned for [2] its stunning historical buildings, especially the Registan, so tourists come there all year round.

[1] Priority 02 · Plurals and agreement — A plural noun after "one of the".
[2] Priority 03 · Natural word partners — The right word partner, and a stronger word than "famous".

Q2

What do you like most about your hometown?

What I like most is how hospitable people are. If you visit someone, even if they hardly know you [1], they'll sit you down and give you tea and fresh bread straight away.

[1] Priority 02 · Plurals and agreement — "Even if" joins the two ideas correctly.

Q3

Has your hometown changed much in recent years?

Yes, it has changed a lot [1]. There are wider roads and plenty of modern buildings now, so the centre looks much smarter. Sadly, though, some old neighbourhoods were knocked down [2], which I really miss.

[1] Priority 01 · Present perfect for changes — Present perfect for a change that still matters now.
[2] Priority 02 · Plurals and agreement — A plural subject with "were".

Q4

Would you like to live there in the future?

Definitely, at some point. Samarkand is a great place to live [1] because it's calm and not as expensive as Tashkent [2]. For now, though, I need to stay in the capital for my career.

[1] Priority 03 · Natural word partners — A natural word partner: a place to live.
[2] Priority 02 · Plurals and agreement — As … as for comparing two cities.

06 · PROGRESS

Your progress

This is your first Part 1 session. Your results are saved, and your next report will show how your band, fillers and pace have changed.

Before your next speaking practice

- [ ] For a change up to now, I use has/have + past participle: it has changed.
  Priority 01
- [ ] After one of the, my noun is plural; before a singular noun I add a/an.
  Priority 02
- [ ] I check word partners: famous for, a good place to live.
  Priority 03
- [ ] I say were with plural subjects: places were destroyed.
  Mistake 6
- [ ] I pause silently instead of saying uh or like.
