Your essay, marked

Short fixes are shown in the text. Every mistake is explained in the next section.

Strong phrase — keep it Mistake Copied from the question ~~word~~ fix

In recent years, technology has become deeply embedded in almost every aspect of daily life. While some people believe this has made our lives unnecessarily complicated, others argue that it has genuinely simplified how we live and work. This essay will discuss both views before presenting my own opinion.

On the one hand, critics of modern technology point out that constant connectivity often leads to stress and information overload. Many people feel obligated to check their phones throughout the day, and some even ~~make~~ develop an addiction to social media. Furthermore, the rapid pace of technological change ~~mean~~ means that people must continuously learn new systems, which ~~the~~ older people especially find overwhelming.

On the other hand, supporters of technology highlight the enormous convenience it provides. Tasks that once took hours, such as paying bills, can now be completed in ~~second~~ seconds. In addition, technology has made it possible for families to stay in touch regardless of distance. This also gives a chance for lonely people.

In my opinion, the complexity people experience usually comes from how technology is used rather than the technology itself. When it is used thoughtfully, it remains a positive force in ~~the~~ modern life.

02 · MISTAKES

Every mistake explained

Only mistakes are shown. Correct sentences are not repeated.

1 ~~some even make an addiction to social media~~ → some even develop an addiction to social media — Lexical

"Addiction" goes with develop or have, never make.

2 ~~the rapid pace of technological change mean~~ → the rapid pace of technological change means — Grammar

The subject is "the pace" (singular), so the verb needs -s.

3 ~~which the older people especially find overwhelming~~ → which older people especially find overwhelming — Grammar

No "the" when you mean older people in general.

4 ~~can now be completed in second~~ → can now be completed in seconds — Lexical

"In seconds" is a fixed phrase meaning very quickly; it is always plural.

5 ~~technology made it possible~~ → technology has made it possible — Grammar

A change that started in the past and still matters now takes the present perfect.

6 ~~This also gives a chance for lonely people.~~ — Coherence

The meaning is unclear: a chance to do what? Say what the chance is for.

If you meant "it gives lonely people a way to stay in touch with others": This also gives lonely people a chance to stay connected.

7 ~~When it used thoughtfully~~ → When it is used thoughtfully — Grammar

A passive needs a form of be: it is used.

8 ~~a positive force in the modern life~~ → a positive force in modern life — Grammar

General ideas such as "modern life" take no article.

QUESTION

Some people believe that modern technology has made life more complicated, while others think it has made life easier. Discuss both views and give your own opinion.

It is often argued that modern technology has complicated our lives, whereas others maintain that it has made them considerably easier. Although technology undeniably brings new pressures, I believe its overall effect is to simplify daily life when it is used wisely.

Those who see technology as a burden point to the constant stream of notifications and the need to master unfamiliar systems. Many employees, for instance, are expected to answer messages long after working hours, which blurs the line between work and rest. Older people in particular may feel left behind as banking, shopping and even medical appointments move online, turning simple errands into stressful tasks.

However, the convenience technology offers is difficult to dispute. Tasks that once required a trip to an office, such as paying bills or renewing documents, can now be completed in minutes from home. Moreover, video calls allow families separated by thousands of kilometres to see each other every day, which strengthens rather than weakens relationships. For lonely or elderly people, these tools can be a vital link to the outside world.

In conclusion, while technology can create stress and demand constant learning, these problems stem largely from how it is used rather than from the technology itself. With sensible limits and basic training, it makes everyday life simpler, faster and more connected.
